ABSTRACT

The ninth annual study of the application and enrollment patterns of university transfer students regarding the inter-campus mobility of students attending institutions under the program of the State University of New York is presented. Transfer students are defined in this study as those undergraduate students who were enrolled at a State University institution for the first time in a given Fall term. Part One provides summary tables on transfer students according to prior institution and student level and degree: also included are related summaries dealing with admission success, trends of transfer students, and enrollment data. Part Two presents tables for each institution as well as an appendix containing trends in full-time undergraduate credit course transfer students at senior institutions and transfers to senior institutions from two-year institutions. The final section provides footnote references, a map of State University institutions, chronology of dates of establishment of State University institutions, and a publications list. Several findings were concluded by the data summary such as a total of 27,075 transfer students enrolled in the Fall 1978 at State University institutions, transfer students enrolled in the Fall of 1978 represent 8.6 percent of the total undergraduate enrollment for that term, and the most common transfer was one who transferred within the State University system from a two-year to a senior institution. An index by coordinating area is provided. (LC)

PREFACE

This is the ninth annual study of the application and enrollment patterns of University transfer students to be published by the Central Staff Office of Institutional Research and Analytical Studies. The study was conducted in response to the many requests for information regarding the inter-campus mobility of students attending institutions under the program of the State University of New York.

Because of the importance of reliable information regarding transfer students for regional and system-wide planning and inter-institutional cooperation, the data gathered for this study have been organized and presented in a variety of formats designed to provide immediate answers to a wide range of questions which may be formulated regarding transfer students. The basic data are presented so as to directly relate the transfer student's prior institution and current SUNY institution and entry level. This information is provided for individual institutions, institution types, and institutions by coordinating area. Additional information is provided regarding trends in transfer students, relationship of the associate degree to transfers, admissions success of transfer students and other related information.

The acquisition of the data contained in this study involved a great deal of work on the part of the individual institutions. We appreciate the cooperation and effort required to provide these data. We would particularly like to thank our professional, statistical and typing staffs whose efforts made this report possible.

INTRODUCTION

Transfer students defined

Because of the conventional use of the term 'transfer students' and because different sources of transfer data may exist, the definition of transfer students used for this study is of special importance. Transfer students are herein defined as those undergraduate students who were enrolled at a State University institution for the first time in a given Fall term, but who had attended other colleges or universities prior to the given Fall term. With this definition, we have transfer students moving from two-year to other two-year colleges, from senior to other senior institutions, from senior institutions to two-year colleges, as well as from two-year to senior institutions. Even if no credits were transferable, albeit an uncommon case, the student moving from one institution to another would be a transfer student.

Students who simply change majors at the same institution are not considered transfer students in this study. Graduate students are not included in this study. The New York State College of Veterinary Medicine and the State College of Optometry which offer only graduate programs, are not included in this report.

The number of transfer students reported here is an understatement because of the difficulty some institutions have in obtaining background information on those students who are not admitted to specific degree programs by application. For example, in Fall 1978 there are 1,037 transfer students (3.8 percent) whose previous institution is unknown. There are undoubtedly many others who are not even known to be transfer students, but these are not likely to be seeking admittance to a program.

Design of the study

Transfer student studies can be designed to follow identified students longitudinally, observing their success patterns. The investment of effort and time required for such studies would be substantial, given the size and complexity of the State University of New York. For this reason, a different approach was used in this study.

The paradigm used here was the analysis of the higher education backgrounds of transfer students enrolled in the various levels of the institutions under the program of the State University of New York. Some types of conclusions cannot flow from such a study; e.g., students who were unsuccessful in obtaining transfer acceptances anywhere in these institutions are not included even though they were formerly enrolled at one of the institutions included and may have graduated in University-parallel programs. Therefore, this study is based on an input model, not a true follow-up model.

Differences between this study and data from the Admissions Processing Center

The data from the Central Staff Admissions Processing Center (A.P.C.) does not correspond with the data of this study. The major difference is in the populations surveyed. Several institutions under the program of the State University of New York do not participate with the A.P.C. and consequently the data collected by A.P.C. is not system-wide. This report, however, includes system-wide data for all undergraduate institutions under the program of the State University of New York. The census date for the collection of data also differs. The data included in this study shows enrolled students at a specific time after classes have started and enrollments have stabilized.

Regional statistics

The articulation of transfer students is an important consideration in regional planning and cooperation among the institutions of the State University. This report includes an index of State University institutions by coordinating area. In addition, data on the educational background and placement of transfer students, undergraduate admissions and enrollment data are provided by coordinating area.

SUMMARY OF DATA

General Findings

A total of 27,075 transfer students were enrolled in the Fall of 1978 at State University institutions. Any comparisons of aggregated SUNY data from previous years must be made with caution because the Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education became part of the City University of New York as of July 1, 1975. The following table, derived from Table 15 (page 21) is designed to aid such comparisons.

Year	Total transfer students reported	Transfers at Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education	Transfer students excluding Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education
Fall 1978	27,075	Not applicable	27,075
Fall 1977	26,702	Not applicable	26,702
Fall 1976	25,218	Not applicable	25,218
Fall 1975	27,320	Not applicable	27,320
Fall 1974	27,745	1,209	26,536
Fall 1973	25,310	966	24,344
Fall 1972	21,946	1,188	20,758
Fall 1971	20,711[a]	640	20,071
Fall 1970	19,681	397	19,284
Fall 1969	14,537	513	14,024

[a]Excludes Empire State College.

The above table separately identifies transfer students at the Community Colleges sponsored by the New York City Board of Higher Education.

The transfer students enrolled in the Fall of 1978 represent 8.6 percent of the total undergraduate enrollment for that term.

The distribution of transfer students enrolled in senior institutions and two-year colleges appears to be slowly shifting. The following table derived from Table 14 (page 20) identifies the percentage of all transfer students who were enrolled in senior institutions or two-year colleges for Fall 1973 through Fall 1978.

Fall term	Total transfer students reported	Percent enrolled at Senior Institutions	Percent enrolled at Two-year Colleges
1978	27,075	62.0	38.0
1977	26,702	61.0	39.0
1976	25,218	62.8	37.2
1975	27,320	64.6	35.4
1974	26,536[a]	66.4	33.6
1973	24,344[a]	66.5	33.5

[a]Data adjusted to exclude transfer students at the Community Colleges sponsored by the New York City Board of Higher Education.

The majority of transfer students continued to come from institutions within the State University system (56.0 percent) which represents a slight decrease compared to Fall 1977 (58.4 percent). The most common type of transfer (28.5 percent) was the student who transferred within the State University system from a two-year to a senior institution. Of those transfers from SUNY two-year to SUNY senior institutions, 81.5 percent were from Community Colleges. The second most common type of transfer (22.2 percent) was the student who transferred from outside the State University to a SUNY senior institution. The third most common type of transfer (17.9 percent) was the student who transferred from a non-SUNY institution to a SUNY two-year institution.

Trends in Yield of Transfers per Associate Degree

The following table presents data on the yield of transfers. These data represent degrees granted 1970-71 through 1977-78 and transfer students at senior institutions Fall 1971 through Fall 1978.

Year	Yield of Transfers per Associate Degree

[a]Excludes Associate degrees granted by the State University senior institutions.

[b]Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education.

It was obvious over the years that the number of transfer students from Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education to other SUNY institutions has been very low. Again, you are cautioned about comparisons from one year to another. The data for these years indicate no set pattern.

Concluding Remarks

A study of this complexity will undoubtedly raise further questions and lead to more insight about the extent and nature of student mobility to and within the State University of New York. It is hoped that the basic information will be useful and that on the basis of these and other data, more students can find ways to further their search for appropriate and rewarding educational experiences.

FOOTNOTES

[a]Original constituent institutions of the State University of New York at its establishment in 1948.

[b]Date of establishment as a state college or institution.

[c]Date of incorporation into State University of New York.

[d]As of July 1, 1975, New York City Community College and the other community colleges (not shown here) sponsored by the New York City Board of Higher Education were no longer a part of the State University of New York.

NOTE: Dates preceding date indicated for establishment as a state college or institution refer to institutional antecedents of the present college or university. These may have been private institutions or controlled by a governmental entity other than the state. Intermediate institutional developments such as other college affiliation or date of first baccalaureate program offering have been omitted for the sake of brevity.
